Rafael Ribeiro is a Senior Associate in the Public, Energy and Environmental Law Department. His practice focuses on administrative law, public procurement, public regulation, energy law, environmental law and urban planning. He also has experience in administrative litigation and arbitration.

Experience

Rafael has regularly worked on legal opinions and other studies in the areas of administrative law, public procurement, public regulation and energy law. He has also provided legal advice in these areas to public and private entities, particularly in the infrastructure, energy, water, waste and transport sectors. He also has experience in administrative litigation and arbitration, particularly in disputes arising from the awarding and performance of administrative contracts for public works, concessions and the acquisition of goods and services.

Throughout his professional career, he has also provided legal advice on partnership projects between the public and private sectors, particularly in the areas of housing and town planning, and has acquired experience in drafting laws and regulations.

He is a member of the Centre for Studies in Public Law and Regulation (CEDIPRE) at the Faculty of Law of the University of Coimbra, where he was also a member of the Public Procurement Group and the Taxes & Contributions Observatory. He was a member of the Department of Advanced Studies in Energy Law, part of the Faculty of Law's Research Institute.

Before joining Garrigues, Rafael was a researcher at CEDIPRE (2016-2017), a legal adviser to the Municipality of Lisbon (2017-2019) and also a legal adviser at Lisboa Ocidental SRU - Sociedade de Reabilitação Urbana E.M., S.A. (2019-2020).
